Internship Agreement for EEB Students and Internship Advisors

Student and the individual internship advisor should reach an agreement regarding the scope and content of the project, keeping in mind time constraints. Most internships are necessarily rather limited in scope. Otherwise, the subject is completely open, according to their mutual interests. Students are encouraged to pursue internships that consist of actual research in the area of expertise of the advisor. Internship projects can be continued beyond the internship period under some other course number or as independent collaborations, by agreement of student and faculty member.
